About Let It Ride

Let it Ride is a poker game where Players are dealt three cards and can use two “community” or shared cards to make their best five card poker hand. Payoffs are based on hands of a pair of 10s or better. Players do not compete against other Players or the Dealer.

How to Play

Before the deal Players must make three equal bets in circled areas marked “1,” “2,” and “$.” Three cards are then dealt face down to each Player, and the Dealer gives himself two “community” cards, also face down. At this point Players look at their cards and may withdraw their “1” bet if they wish. Or they may keep this bet in play and “Let it Ride.” The Dealer then turns over one of his “community cards” and Players now have a chance to withdraw their bet from the “2” circle. Once any bet is withdrawn, it stays withdrawn. If Players decide to let their bet ride, it stays in play until the hand is over.

The Dealer then turns over his second “community” card. If any Players do not have the minimum of a pair of 10s he collects all the bets that those Players had on the table. If other Players show a pair of 10s or better the Dealer makes the following payoffs on their remaining bets:

Pair (10s or better).....	1 to 1
Two pairs.....	2 to 1
Three of a kind.....	3 to 1
Straight.....	5 to 1
Flush.....	8 to 1
